Limited Resources – Opportunities without Borders

Conference Booklet

The Global Tables on Resource Security in cooperation with the Earth Security Group facilitate a forward-looking dialogue between Europe and the new global players and raise awareness of the importance of shared leadership and collaboration in a multi-polar world based on joint responsibility. Opinion leaders from various sectors of society are invited to actively engage in a creative discussion and identify innovative solutions for tackling pressing resource security challenges. The main goal of this cross-sector platform is to promote a solution-oriented exchange between Europe and the emerging economies.

Fiona Shaw

Executive Director Global Analytics, Willis Group, London

shawf@willis.com
www.willis.com

Personal Profile Fiona is Managing Director, Global Analytics at Willis, global risk advisor, insurance & reinsurance broker. Her professional experience spans insurance broking, reinsurance, catastrophe risk analysis and modelling, to her current role as "match-maker" of the best analytical tools, catastrophe risk models and technologies to the risk management needs of Willis's clients. Fiona began her insurance broking career in 1987, originally leading the international component of global insurance programs for multinational corporations. Her task was to ensure all risk management and insurance requirements were met and compliant and at the same time balancing the needs of the Head Office with those of local operating companies, on a world-wide scale. In 2000 Fiona transferred into a reinsurance role in Willis Re's Research & Development team managing data acquisition for the building of an earthquake model for Turkey and consulting on the development of a UK flood model for a major UK insurer. She then co-led the development of the Catastrophe Management Services team of Willis Re International. Fiona now works closely with clients to understand and map out a 'route to resilience'. She is utilizing geographic information and trends to more accurately represent hazards around the world, identifying exposed assets and building risk knowledge; all designed to enable immediate, effective response to natural and man-made hazards including the ever-increasing impacts of climate change. Fiona graduated from the University of St. Andrews with a Bachelor of Science (Hons) in Geography and later completed a Master of Science in Geographic Information at City University, London. She is an Associate of the Chartered Insurance Institute.

Sabine Porn

Senior Manager, BMW
Foundation Herbert Quandt, Berlin

sabine.porn@bmw-stiftung.de www.bmw-stiftung.de

Personal Profile In recent years, Sabine Porn could mainly be heard – as a host of Inforadio at Berlin-Brandenburg Broadcasting (rbb) where she reported mostly on the politics of the day. Her passion, however, is seeing the bigger picture and taking the wider view. For seven years, Sabine Porn worked as a producer for ZDF in Singapore: this stay abroad left her with an insatiable curiosity about the world and a major interest in those parts of the globe that are not always in the public spotlight. After studying German literature, journalism, and political science at the Free University of Berlin, Sabine Porn, born in West-Berlin, began her career as a journalist in the early 1980s as a court reporter for the daily taz. She subsequently worked for the Sender Freies Berlin (SFB) – first as a writer for the station’s youth radio, later as an editor and host of the Zeitfunk program. As a senior manager at the BMW Foundation, the focus of her work is on the global dialogue.

Claudia Leisinger

Freelance Portrait and Documentary Photographer, London

www.claudialeisinger.com

Personal Profile I work as a portrait and documentary photographer and filmmaker. I spent my early childhood in India and Bhutan, before returning to my native country Switzerland. In 2007 I completed an MA course in Photojournalism at the London College of Communication with the story 'Bhutan, A Country In Transition', which documented Bhutan's shift towards its first-ever democratic elections. At present I work as freelance portrait and documentary photographer for NGOs and magazines such as the Big Issue and The Telegraph Magazine. But mostly I pursue my own projects, focusing on issues such as migration (the UK's Iraqi refugee crisis), changes in work practice and the disappearance of manual labour (The Last of the Billingsgate Fish Porters, Grave Diggers in South London and disappearing marble production in Pietra Santa, Italy), and religious beliefs (the Kalachakra Buddhist teachings in South India).

Interests and Expertise National and cultural identity, 21st century manual labour, environmental issues
